

SCOTT FLYNN | NONDUALITY

Podcast Guest One-Sheet

Making Self-Realization clear, visible, and experiential through Nonduality, Advaita Vedanta, and Self-inquiry.

Best Fit Audiences

Spiritual seekers, meditators, nonduality students, consciousness audiences, and thoughtful people seeking lasting peace beyond self-improvement.

Core Topics

Nonduality, Advaita Vedanta, Self-inquiry, Self-Realization, end of suffering, fear, desire, ego, lasting happiness.

Links

Website: www.scott-flynn.com
Books: Love Outpouring and The Intimacy of Being

About Scott

Scott Flynn teaches Nonduality and Self-inquiry through a clear, visual, and experiential approach rooted in the Self-knowledge tradition of Advaita Vedanta.

Through detailed graphics, guided inquiry, and experiential exercises, Scott makes the often abstract path to Self-Realization understandable, practical, and directly investigable.

His work clarifies the nature of ego, fear, desire, suffering, happiness, and the ever-present peace already present as one's own Self.

Scott is the author of Love Outpouring and The Intimacy of Being: An Interactive Guide to Self-Realization. His work has been shaped by Sri Ramana Maharshi, Rupert Spira, Michael James, and the wisdom of past sages.

With a B.S. in Chemical Engineering and experience as the founder and former CEO of two Certified Benefit Corporations, Scott brings analytical precision, visual structure, and devotion to the spiritual path.

Why Hosts Invite Scott

- He makes Nonduality clear without diluting its depth.
- He bridges Eastern wisdom and Western analytical clarity.
- He explains Self-inquiry in a practical, experiential way.
- He speaks to seekers exhausted by vague concepts and endless self-improvement.
- He brings a distinctive visual framework to ego, separation, and peace.

Suggested Episode Titles

- Why Spiritual Seeking Often Fails
- Why Meditation Alone May Not End Suffering
- How Self-Inquiry Actually Works
- Making Self-Realization Clear and Visible
- The End of Suffering Through Self-Knowledge
- Why Lasting Peace Is Already Present as One's Self

Podcast Conversation Angles

- What Nonduality actually points to - beyond belief, philosophy, or spiritual identity.
- The difference between intellectual understanding and direct recognition.
- How the belief in separation gives rise to fear, desire, resistance, and suffering.
- Why happiness is not produced by experience but revealed as the nature of Being.
- How Self-inquiry can be practiced clearly rather than vaguely.
- How ancient Advaita Vedanta can be presented visually for modern seekers.
- Why seekers often remain stuck despite years of meditation, retreats, books, or practices.

Sample Interview Questions

- What do you mean by Self-Realization?
- Why do sincere seekers remain confused after years of practice?
- What is the role of Self-inquiry in ending suffering?
- How is lasting peace already present as one's own Self?
- What is the ego, and why does it feel so convincing?
- How do your graphics help make the teaching clearer?
- What did your engineering background bring to your spiritual work?
- How do Ramana Maharshi and Advaita Vedanta inform your approach?

Short Introduction for Hosts

Scott Flynn is a Nonduality teacher and author who makes the path to Self-Realization clear, visual, and experiential through Advaita Vedanta, Self-inquiry, detailed graphics, and direct investigation. He is the author of Love Outpouring and The Intimacy of Being, and his work points sincere seekers to the peace, freedom, and fulfillment already present as their own Self.

Contact / More Information

Website: www.scott-flynn.com | Topics: Nonduality, Self-inquiry, Advaita Vedanta, Self-Realization, lasting peace, the end of suffering | Format: Podcast interviews, video conversations, online talks, and in-person talks / retreats.

FREE FOUR-PART VISUAL SERIES

The Direct Path to Self-realization

Graphics, illustrations, and guided explanation make the nondual path to lasting peace clear, visible, and understandable. Includes the free companion book, The Intimacy of Being.

Explore the series: www.scott-flynn.com/series